Recipients of Best Lawyer recognitions are determined by peer review and the valued opinions of leading lawyers within the same geographical and legal practice area. Peers complete rigorous surveys that determine the overall quality of legal services provided by both attorneys and firms. Nominees are then assessed through further analysis and an evaluation by a selected panel. For more than three decades, Best Lawyers has been recognized as one of the most respected publications in the profession by the media and the public in measuring the integrity of the legal field in the United States.
